SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor
HOPKINSVILLE, MAR. 13, 1883.

We are authorized to announce Prof. H. B. Wayland, of Cadiz, as a candidate for County Judge of Trigg county. Election August, 1883.

We are authorized to announce Capt. Ralph Sheldon, of Nelson county, as a candidate for re-election as Register of the Land Office, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election August, 1883.

Gov. Stephens' last words were "Doctor, you hurt me."

Hon. Chas. Reed was re-elected Mayor of Paducah in a close contest with Capt. J. R. Smith. His majority was only 99 in a vote of 1,621.

Portland and Lewiston, Maine, both elected Democratic mayors last week. They have heretofore been strongly Republican.

United States Treasurer Gilfillan has tendered his resignation to Secretary Folger, and will become President of the New York Trust Company.

The steamer Yazoo struck a snag at Gypsy Point, twenty-five miles above New Orleans, on the 4th inst. and sank. About twenty lives were lost and the cargo was a total loss.

Privates Johnson and Melter, who were sick of pneumonia at Grayson during the whole of the craft trial, have just recovered sufficiently to be able to leave for their homes.

Chas. H. Reed has been paid $3,000 by the government for defending Guiteau. This is enough to make the bones of Garfield turn over in the grave.

The Secretary of the Treasury has ordered "cents" to be put in the new nickel, to meet the requirements of the law. If some friend of humanity will issue a similar order with regard to the editor of the Danville Tribune, a grateful public will rise up and call him blessed.

A drummer named Lewis Anderson was chased by a pack of wolves while traveling alone in the woods near Maquoketa, Iowa, and narrowly escaped with his life. It is a fact, because the drummer said so, and we have no more right to doubt the veracity of the drummer than the veracity of the wolves.

Little Peggy Miller, the child actress of the Fritz-Emmet Company, suddenly sank down and died while dancing on the stage at Williamsburg, New York, last week. She was only eight years old and was the daughter of Wm. C. Miller, the stage manager of the company.

A wag says two-lip salve is good for chapped lips, but if applied too often it is apt to give one an affection of the heart. We would not be surprised any day to hear of the sudden death of Charlie Meacham and Tom Cannon—Zeno Young.

We indignantly repel the insinuation that we are in the habit of kissing Tom Cannon.

The angelic visitors who illuminated our office with their bright presence last Saturday are requested to call again and stay longer.—Madisonville Times.

We have heard of angels' meeting people "at the cross-roads," but we never before heard of their visiting a printing office. Are you certain you saw angels? Maybe you are mistaking.

Hon. Jas. S. Boynton, President of the Georgia Senate, was sworn in as Governor upon the death of Gov. Stephens, on the 4th inst. Gov. Boynton has ordered an election to be held April 24th to fill the vacancy which he is now filling temporarily. Boynton, Blount and Jackson are announced as candidates.

The Prohibitionists will meet in convention at Louisville the 20th inst., to nominate a State ticket. It is understood that Gen. Green Clay Smith will be nominated for Governor and that the Republicans and Greenbackers will endorse him and the rest of the ticket in the vain hope of defeating the Democratic nominee.

Dr. W. F. Carver and Capt. A. H. Bogardus had another shooting match at Chicago, March 3d, and the former again won by a score of 82 to 79. Carver fell behind his Louisville score one bird, and Bogardus three. The third match was won at St. Louis Friday by Bogardus by a score of 81 to 79. Several other matches will take place in the near future.

The years may come and the years may go, but it seems like that senseless religious discussion in the columns of the Owensboro Messenger, like Tenison's brook, is to run on and on forever. The controversy is between Dr. Coleman, of the Baptist church and Dr. Hayes, of the Methodist church, and like the monkey on the pole, the higher up the reverend gentlemen climb the plainer they show that the cause of religion will not be benefited by such a course.

At a mass meeting held on county court day, in Hart county, Gen. S. B. Buckner, of that county, was endorsed as a candidate for Governor. The thing seems to have been a huge joke gotten up extemporaneously, as nobody knew that Gen. Buckner would be willing to serve as Governor and few people outside of his county ever heard of him. The opponents of Mr. Knott are trying to make capital of the matter as Hart is

It is held by the Catholics that no woman can be married a second time. The priest who officiated at the marriage ceremony of Senator Tabor was deceived and believed that the bride was Miss McCourt, when she was in reality Mrs. McCourt, a divorced wife. Since learning this he has sent back to the groom the fee of $200 received for performing the ceremony, which the Reverend Father declares was no marriage ceremony at all. However it answers the Senator's purposes, and he and his bride are still enjoying their honeymoon.

Nashville was visited by another destructive fire last Wednesday night, which destroyed property to the amount of $300,000. The fire originated in the basement of Wm. Litterer's drug store, on Market street, about 9 o'clock. Litterer's store and a number of adjacent buildings were destroyed, and a good deal of damage done by water. The insurance is less than half of the amount of the loss. Three men were killed by a falling wall.

The Breckinridge News boasts that Cloverport has more pretty girls than any town of its size between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. It depends altogether on the standard of beauty. Now, for instance, a girl might be a beauty in Cloverport and yet be considered homely in Hopkinsville.

It is stated that Senator Edmunds was elected President of the Senate only because Senator Anthony's term did not extend through the recess, and that he will resign next December and the latter will be chosen to succeed him. Senator Anthony is from Rhode Island and is the oldest Senator in either party.

Ex-Senator David Davis's long talk of marriage will take place today, at Fayetteville, N. C. Miss Annie Burr, the young lady who is to become his bride, is a highly cultured lady about thirty years of age, less than half as old as the bridegroom. The wedding party will take a bridal tour to California.

During all this time, though feeble in body, his intellectual faculties remained strong and vigorous. Last year he was elected Governor of Georgia by the Democrats, but he proved to be too reckless in issuing pardons. Like Gov. Blackburn, he was a kind old man but lacked firmness and decision of character, and was therefore not fitted to occupy executive positions.

During his leisure hours he devoted himself to literary work. His first book was the "War Between the States," and it had a large sale. His most recent work was a "History of the United States."

The illness which was the immediate cause of his death was contracted from exposure during a recent visit to Savannah. He was sick only six days and died shortly after midnight on the night of Saturday, the 3rd inst.

Alexander H. Stephens.

The death of Gov. Stephens, of Georgia, a few days since removed from the politics of the country one of the greatest men of his day. He was a very remarkable man and had been almost continuously in public life for fifty years, and during almost all of that period he was an invalid. His career began in his early manhood, when he was a member of the Whig party. He served a number of terms in the state legislature and was elected to Congress, when 35 years of age. He was re-elected for eight consecutive terms and finally declined another re-election. When the Whig party disbanded he became a Democrat and was one of the most vehement opposers of secession when the stormy days of the civil strife came on. When his State went out of the Union he, however, went with her and was elected Vice-President of the Confederacy, of which Jefferson Davis was President. He was one of the first men of his time to foresee the part that slavery was to play in the history of the country. In the latter part of the war he was one of the most important men in the Commission that met President Lincoln to talk about terms of peace. After the war he was a prisoner in Fort Warren for several months. Soon after being released he was elected United States Senator, but was not allowed to take his seat because his State had not complied with the terms upon which she was to resume her representation in Congress. In 1872 he was again elected to the lower House of Congress and was returned for five consecutive terms. He was allowed to occupy a seat in an invalid's chair near the Speaker and frequently spoke sitting in his chair.

During all this time, though feeble in body, his intellectual faculties remained strong and vigorous. Last year he was elected Governor of Georgia by the Democrats, but he proved to be too reckless in issuing pardons. Like Gov. Blackburn, he was a kind old man but lacked firmness and decision of character, and was therefore not fitted to occupy executive positions.

COURT NEWS.

FIRST WEEK.

Henry Rout, col., charged with hog stealing was tried and acquitted.

A row of desks has been put inside the bar for the convenience of the lawyers.

A sea lion escaped from the Cincinnati Zoological Garden during the late flood, and was last seen in the waters of the lower Ohio. A large reward is offered for its capture and return.

Sam Gaines, of Owen county, was arraigned last week for horse stealing. It was not the Sam of newspaper fame, who is still collarizing cocktails and attending to his clerical duties at Frankfort.

A man named Oscar Wild fell on a stove while in a fit and was burned to death, at Canton, Ohio. Unfortunately he was not the young gentleman of sunflower notoriety, whose aestheticism created such a sensation last year.

A Loredo, Texas, editor's boy was riddled by bullets, fired by a would-be-assassin, in his absence. An argument for keeping late hours.

Ravonahitiriarivo and Ramaniarka, the Malagasy ambassadors to the United States, arrived in New York last week. The latter gentleman was probably brought along to pronounce his companion's name.

Clarence Hite, of Logan county, Ky., one of the James gang, sent to the Missouri penitentiary a year ago for 25 years, has been pardoned by Gov. Crittenden. He is in the last stages of consumption.

The Danville Tribune and Bowling Green Progress speak in favorable terms of Col. A. H. Clark, of this city, as a Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Hon. C. U. McElroy declines to be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from Warren county.

The Democrats and Greenbackers of Michigan have fused and united on a joint ticket for state officers.

The Republican State Central Committee has issued a call for a convention to meet at Lexington, May 23rd to nominate a state ticket.

Mahone and Riddleberger have chosen seats on the Republican side of the Senate Chamber.

Col. Milt D. Brown, of Todd county, has withdrawn from the race for Lieutenant-Governor.

Prof. H. B. Hayward, of Ohio county, has announced himself as a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

It is estimated that 75,000 persons attended Gov. Stephen's funeral.

Col. Geo. M. Edgar, of Warren county, has announced himself a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Band.

It is not generally known that a brass band has been organized in the city, of local talent. It was organized about six months ago and made its first public appearance at the Opera House a few days since. When it is considered that none of those composing the band could even read music when they began, they have made very rapid progress and bid fair to be a credit to themselves and the city. The following members compose the band.

J. W. Cross, Leader, E flat cornet.
W. A. Long, 2nd E " "
C. G. McDaniel, 1st B " "
Nat. Wright, 2nd. B " "
Frazier Owen, Jr., 3rd B " " W. H. Lee, 1st Alto.

There is no reason why Hopkinsville should not have a first class band and we hope to see our people encourage the cultivation and utilizing of home talent by assisting the boys in getting dress uniforms. They are enthusiastic in their work and are devoting much time and study to it and they should meet with substantial encouragement.

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.

H. R. Roper and Jim Cooper, Jr., are now the ushers in the Opera House.

E. A. Pike has been added to the list of telephone subscribers. His number is 2.

Polk Cansler's first monthly sale of stock will take place at his stable next Saturday.

The frame work of Mr. Jno. Brown's cottage, on Princeton street, is nearly done.

The Henderson and Pritchett building, on East Main street, is about ready for occupancy.

Mr. Ike Hart has had the front of his store on Main street remodeled and now has some of the handsomest show windows in the city.

The regular annual Tobacco Fair will be held at Fairview the latter part of April. Fuller particulars will be given later.

A band of Italian musicians struck the city last week and were engaged by Mr. Rodgers to make music at the theatre Friday evening.

The Baptist Guild will meet at Mr. S. G. Buckner's next Friday evening. Admission 10 cents. All are invited.

Mr. Keen preached at the Methodist church Sunday night, by invitation, and there were no services at the Baptist church.

Mr. Henry M. Frankel, of Princeton, was in the city last week. He has now gone to New York, and other eastern cities to purchase a new stock of spring goods.

The new and elegant gold-lettered sign on the glass door of the Europan Hotel is the handsomest in the city. It was painted by Mr. A. Simmons, who makes a specialty of such work.

Mr. Wm. Johnson has bought a building lot in the flat on south Main street, opposite Mrs. Hord's, and is filling it up several feet. He will build on it some time during the year.

Messrs. Slesser & Haas, of the New York store, will go out of business as soon as their stock is disposed of and the stand will be occupied by a shoe store firm from Louisville.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the old and reliable commercial college of Rank & Wright, of Evansville, which appears elsewhere in this issue. There is no better school of the kind in the West and we recommend it to young men who want to learn book-keeping.

Col. Thos. L. Jones, candidate for Governor, and Mr. A. B. Smith, a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, addressed the citizens of the county last Tuesday, at the court house. Indisposition prevented our being present and hearing them.

Mr. Patrick Ryan was sworn in last week as special Opera House policeman to act under the direction of the proprietor of the Opera House. It will be his special duty to be present at all entertainments and maintain order during performances.

Prof. D. G. Lawson, of Glasgow, Scotland, has given his long deferred educational entertainment at the Baptist church on the evening of the 5th inst. As the fact was not generally known his audience was small, but his entertainment gave general satisfaction to those who attended.

On last Monday a negro woman named Harriet Hopson was found dead on the Palmyra road about three or four miles from this city. The coroner was summoned and held an inquest. The verdict of the jury was that she came to her death by falling from a mule, which she was riding, and thereby breaking her neck.

The youthful color and a rich luster are restored to faded or ironed by the use of Parker's Hair Lotion.

There will be five or six more attractions at the Opera House this month.

The village of Elmo, some miles southeast of this city, was visited by a $4,000 conflagration last Wednesday evening. The fire originated in the merchandise establishment of Mr. G. H. Allen, and both the store and his dwelling adjacent were entirely destroyed. The loss on the building was about $2,000 without insurance. The stock of goods was worth about $2,000 and was fully covered by insurance. Mr. Allen's loss is a heavy one and one that he will feel severely. He cannot get ready to open up in business again for several months.

The burning of the pest house Saturday night was a piece of inhuman vandalism reprehensible in the extreme and entirely unwarranted.

It was situated outside of the city on an isolated hill top and not contiguous to any dwelling houses. It was not the fault of the incendiary that his crime did not end in a double tragedy and holocaust, as the attendant who was asleep only woke in time to drag his suffering patient out of the burning building and leave him exposed to the rigors of winter while he sought assistance.

The highest prices yet paid for tobacco were received last week by Mr. G. W. Embry, of Montgomery county, Tenn., who sold two hogsheads at $8.75 and $9.75. They were sold by Messrs. Buckner and Woodbridge. Mr. Embry is one of the most enterprising and successful tobacco planters of the Garrettsburg neighborhood.

The following problem may appear simple enough but it will be found rather difficult by those who undertake to work it: "A. and B. agreed to dig a ditch 100 yards long for $100, of which A. is to receive $50 each. A. begins at one end in hard dirt at $1.25 per yard and B. begins at the other end in soft dirt at 75 cents per yard. How many yards will each have to dig to entitle him to $50?"

The roof of a frame house occupied by Mrs. Roper caught on fire last Saturday and but for the prompt action of those who discovered it the building would have been burned.

Every precaution has been and will be taken to prevent the spreading of the disease, and in the meantime we will keep our readers fully advised on the subject.

To those who may be inclined to become alarmed we will say that there is no danger whatever to be apprehended, as both of the cases referred to were imported and there is not now a single case inside the city limits, and only one in the suburbs.

Messrs. Forbes & Gant are agents for the justly celebrated Minneapolis Harvester and Binder. This is a new machine for this section, but it won unfading laurels in the heavy crops of the north last season. It will be on exhibition at their store on Main street.

Dr. Andrew Sargent has removed his office from Dr. Fairfie's to the location he occupied before the fire, over Henderson's new grocery. His office is one of the handsomest and most conveniently arranged ones in the city.

Mr. A. G. Bush has bought the north end of the steamboat house lot on south Main street and is filling it up in front preparatory to a fine residence on it in the spring.

The Tempus Bonum Club will meet at the residence of Mr. W. W. Ware, Friday evening, March 16th.

It is desired every member will be present.

Entirely Satisfactory.

Mess. J. H. Winfree & Co. wish to be generally known that they are still in the field.

They are agents for the farmer's favorite, the reliable old McCormick binders, with which they had splendid success last season.

They also sell the Studebaker wagon, and the Oliver Chilled plows which have become fire-side words with the farmer. See his conspicuous advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

DAWSON.

This active little town seems more alive than before. New buildings are constantly going up. The sound of the carpenter's hatchet is never still. Dr. M. D. Brasher, the druggist, whose stock was burned during the recent fire here, has put up a commodious building on the north side of the railroad and will open up his goods this week. Mr. W. I. Hamby has erected quite a roomy hotel adjoining the house formerly occupied by Dr. Davis, but now tenanted by Mr. J. L. Baker, who has fitted up a handsome saloon with a billiard hall in connection. Mr. J. W. Pritchett and his estimable lady now have charge of the Arcadia Hotel. This house has about thirty rooms capable of accommodating 75 or 100 guests.

The scrupulous neatness of everything connected with this hotel will recommend it to every one while the landlord is ever mindful of the pleasure and comfort of his guests, and the ladies regard Mrs. Pritchett as a jewel.

Mr. Robt. Pendleton, Mrs. Jameson and her daughter, Miss Carrie Pendleton, all of Pembroke, and Mr. Jesup Tandy, of your city, are among the guests of this house.

The chalybeate water is in excellent condition being stronger in iron than ever before, at least in our opinion.

The fishing will be fine now in a few days, in fact anglers have had good success already, those who have had the courage to face the cold. Dawson is an assured success.

The properties of the water were fully tested last year, and were even more potent than had ever been claimed for them.

Dressmakers' bills are the result of Adam's transgression.—Gruelle.

The latest patch on his trousers is something new under the sun.—Gruelle.

Cattle, in midsummer, earn their living by the sweat of their brows.—Gruelle.

An exchange speaks of "the hotel of the future." Well, if they have hotels there, it strikes us there will be a living demand for fire escapes.—Modern Argo.

The Governor of Massachusetts called on the Governor of the United States at the White House, Tuesday. Silverware reported safe, but two spoons of sugar missing.—Owensboro Post.

In a Western town the other day a young man was shot at, but the bullet lodged in a Testament which was in his vest pocket. There ought to be a beautiful moral in this incident, but unfortunately the fact remains that if he had been reading the Testament he would have been killed.—Eliza-bettown News.

"Are you a member of the legislature, sir?" was asked of a quiet Arkansaw man. "No, I have come here to take a place in another department of the state government and am waiting to be sworn in," Clerkship? No I have been sentenced to the penitentiary.—Arkansaw Traveler.

"When do you expect to get sober?" asked a wife to her husband. "Well," he replied, "blamed if I know, I used to be pretty good in mathematics and could calculate an eclipse, but this whisky business floors me. If I live long enough I may be sober somewhere in the neighborhood of the close of the next century.—Arkansaw Traveler.

A keen student of human nature must have written the following: "When you see a young man sailing down street shortly after midnight, with collar mashed down his neck, you can make up your mind there's a young girl crawling up stairs not far distant, with her shoes under her arm and an extinguished lamp in her hand."—Sunday Argus.

Sacred Music.

Hymn singing is not always appropriate to occasions, and leaders often make singular selections. A minister preached a solemn sermon on the judgment, and gave out at the close:

"That awful day will surely come, which the choir sang to the lively air of 'Coronation.' "Brother," said the preacher to the chorister in the vestibule, "why didn't you sing 'Yankee Doodle'?"

At an immersion baptism on the bank of a river, as each candidate, male or female, emerged dripping from the water, the people intersected the favorite revivalist chorus:

"They look like men in uniform,

At a protracted meeting one of the hardest families in the neighborhood, by name Ransom, were persuaded to go to the front for subjects for prayer. The rejoicing people shouted lustily in prospect of half-a-dozen much-needed conversions:

"The year of grace has come;

Return, ye ransomed sinners, home. This made old Ransom mad. He took it as personal insult, got up from his knees and took his bedraggled better-half by the arm, saying aloud, "Come on, old woman, they don't want the like of us here; come on, boys and gals! and led the whole tribe out of church in flaming dudgeon."

An English leader set the advent hymn "Christ the Lord is risen today—hallelujah!" to the Tyrolean waltz, and a Southern camp-meeting Christian song "When I Can Read My Title Clear" to the minstrel melody "Wait for the wagon, and we'll all take a ride!"—Troy Times.

Quantity of Seed per Acre.

Grain Drilled.—Wheat, 1½ to 2 bushels; rye, 1½ to 1½ bushels; oats, 2½ to 3; barley and oats, 1 bushel of oats to 2 bushels of barley; peas, 2 to 3 bushels; buckwheat, ½ to ¾ of a bushel; corn in hills, 6 to 8 quarts; in drills, for fodder, 2 to 3 bushels; broom corn in drills, ½ to ¾ of a bushel; beans, 1 to 1½ bushels; sorghum, ½ to ¾ of a bushel.

Grasses.—Timothy, 8 to 12 quarts; orchard grass, 1½ to 2 bushels; redtop, 12 to 16 quarts; Kentucky blue grass, 2 bushels; white clover, 4 to 6 quarts; red clover, 6 to 8 quarts; millet, ½ to ¾ bushel; lucerne, 8 to 10 pounds.

Vegetables and Seeds.—Beets, 4 to 5 pounds per acre; carrots, 2 pounds; rutabaga, ¾ to 1 pound; tobacco, 2 ounces; cotton, 2 to 5 bushels; turnips, 1 to 2 pounds; onions, 3 to 4 pounds.

A Difficult Problem Solved.

The desire for stimulants is becoming a monstrous evil and how to overcome it is serious question with reformers. Parker's Cough Tonic fairly solves the difficult problem. It invigorates body and mind without intoxicating, and has brought health and happiness to many thousands.

Safety in Hotels.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Mr. Bland, of Missouri, introduced in the House to-day a bill to provide for the better protection of life in the hotels and lodging-houses of the District of Columbia. It is made the duty of every keeper of a hotel or lodging-house of over two stories in height to provide and securely fasten in every lodging-room above the second story which has an outside window and is used for the accommodation of guest a rope or a rope ladder as a means of escape in case of a fire, of at least one inch in diameter, to be securely fastened within the room, as near the window as practicable, of sufficient length to reach the ground. In lieu of a rope or ladder, any other appliance may be substituted of equal or greater utility. Every hotel and lodging-house over three stories in height shall be provided with permanent iron balconies, with iron stairs leading from one balcony to the other. It is made the duty of hotel keepers to post notices in each room of the appliance, and the part of the room it can be found. Violations of the provisions of the bill are made an indictable misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $500, nor less than $50.

Hotels of four stories are required to keep a watchman on each floor or story thereof, to guard against fire, and give a warning in case a fire should break out, between the hours of 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. In case of fire he is required to wake each guest. A large gong, or bell, is required to be placed near the office, to be used to alarm the guest in case of fire. If the watchman leaves his post more than fifteen minutes at any one time, or fail to awaken the guest, it is made a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the District jail not more than a year, or by a fine not less than $50 no more than $500. Hotel proprietors are punishable in the same manner for failing to comply with the terms of the bill. The act is to be given in charge to the grand jury at each session, to make due inquiry, and indict and bring to trial all found guilty of violating any of its provisions. All fines collected under the act are to be turned into the treasury of the United States for the benefit of the common schools of the District. All hotels or lodging houses hereafter constructed, over two stories in height and 100 feet in length, shall have at least two pairs of stairs leading from the ground floor to the uppermost story.

The figures compiled by the New York Bureau of Vital Statistics furnish some interesting facts about marriage and especially the age of people who assumed the awful but interesting relation. Take as a basis 11,000 marriages. Of that number the brides under twenty years of age were 2,651, while the bridegrooms under twenty were only 204. The bridegrooms between twenty and twenty-five years of age numbered 3,923, the brides 4,662. Up to the age of twenty-five the woman may ask, "Who will I have?" After that age she must say, "Who will have me?" There were 3,332 men married who were between twenty-five and thirty years old, and 2,212 women between the same ages. The bridegrooms between thirty and thirty-five years of age were 1,635, and the brides 747. But 850 men and 435 women were between thirty-five and forty years of age. The old bachelors who became bachelors between forty and forty-five years of age numbered 446, and the women who married between forty and forty-five years of age were 1,635, and the brides 747. The siege of the Alamo lasted for eleven days, during which time the little garrison of 165 men was harassed day and night by the attacks of the enemy. Exhausted with toils, lack of sleep and wounds, and hopeless of succor, they nevertheless resolved never to surrender. At length, when assaulted before the dawn of day, on the morning of the twelfth day, the Mexicans succeeded in scaling the stone wall enclosing the cathedral and massacred the whole garrison. The only persons spared survivor to tell it in Laredo, and the women who died here in obedience to her laws.

The battle of the Alamo is but a repetition of that fought by Leonidas and his brave Spartans at Thermopylae; with the difference, however, that of the 165 defenders of the Alamo against 4,000 Mexicans, there was survivor to tell it in Laredo, and the women who died here in obedience to her laws.

Land Measure.

Every farmer should have a rod measure—a light, stiff pole, just 16½ feet long—for measuring land. By a little practice he can learn to step rod at five paces, which will answer very well for ordinary farm work. Ascertaining the number of rods in width and length of the lot you wish to measure, multiply one with the other, and divide by 160, and you have the number of acres, as 160 square rods make a square acre. If you wish to lay off one acre, measure thirteen rods each way. This lacks only a rod of full measure.

A four-rod tape line is better, when you have a boy to carry one end. It is very important that every farmer should know the acreage and yield of his own crops. Abandon guess work, and begin measurement at once.

The etiquette for wearing rings is as follows: Engagement rings are generally worn on the third finger of the left hand. But in Brewer's Dictionary of Phrases and Fable we find that if one is willing to marry, but not engaged, a ring should be worn on the index finger of the left hand; if married, on the second finger; but if there is no desire to marry, on the little finger.—Owensboro Messenger.
